UTHSC Electronic Data Warehouse

901.287.5834 | ubynum@uthsc.edu | cbmi.lab.uthsc.edu/redw

The Center for Biomedical Informatics (CBMI) at UTHSC has developed Research Enterprise Data Warehouse (rEDW) – a standardized aggregated healthcare data warehouse from Methodist Le Bonheur Health System. Our mission is to develop a single, comprehensive and integrated warehouse of all pediatric and adult clinical data sources on the campus to facilitate healthcare research, healthcare operations and medical education.

The rEDW is an informatics tool available to researchers at UTHSC and Methodist Health System to assist with generating strong, data-driven hypotheses. Via controlled searches of the rEDW, UTHSC researchers will have the ability to run cohort queries, perform aggregated analyses and develop evidenced preparatory to research study plans.

ResearchMatch.org

The ResearchMatch website is a web-based tool that was established as a unique collaborative effort with participating sites in the NIH Clinical and Translational Science Awards Consortium and is hosted by Vanderbilt University. UTHSC is a participating ResearchMatch (RM) is a registry allowing anyone residing in the United States to self-register as a potential research participant.

Researchers can register their studies on ResearchMatch after IRB approval is granted. The ResearchMatch system employs a ‘matching’ model – Volunteers self-register and Researchers search for Volunteers for their studies.
